Queensland Women's Week (QWW) isn't just about recognising and celebrating the successes and achievements of women and girls across Queensland. It's also a time to acknowledge that everyone has a role to play in creating a community that respects women, embraces gender equality, and promotes and protects the rights, interests, and wellbeing of women and girls.

Just as every player on a baseball team contributes to its success, every member of our baseball community plays a vital role in advancing gender equality and ensuring that women and girls are valued and respected. From the players who step up to the plate to the scorers, umpires, coaches, administrators, volunteers, and of course, the friends and families who support them every step of the way, each person contributes to the rich tapestry of our baseball community.

During Queensland Women's Week, let's come together as a team to celebrate the achievements of women and girls in every aspect of baseball, break down barriers, and create a more inclusive and equitable playing field for all. Together, let's count her in and make Queensland a place where everyone, regardless of gender, has the opportunity to thrive.

On International Women's Day, let's celebrate the incredible contributions of women in all aspects of life, just like in baseball where they continue to break barriers and make their mark on the game. From players to coaches, umpires to fans, women play a vital role in shaping the world of baseball.

As we recognise the achievements of women in baseball, let's also commit to breaking down barriers and achieving gender equality in all areas of society. Every woman and girl deserves the opportunity to thrive and succeed, both on and off the field.

This International Women's Day, let's honour the past, celebrate the present, and work towards a future where gender equality is the norm. Together, let's hit a home run for women's rights and create a more inclusive world for all!
